Best-Selling Author + Licensed Acupuncturist
To Launch Quarterly Wellness Seminars for Girls and Women Of All Ages in 2018

Brooklyn, NY - Dr. Danett Bean (Doctor of Acupuncture and Asian Medicine) and woman's health expert, will release her first book for free, A Taste of Our Own Medicine: 3 Vital Keys to Ending Postnatal Depletion, Nurturing Mothers and Improving Our Communities on April 26th 2017. The book will feature resources for mothers and their loved ones who are looking for a better postnatal life.

Dr. Danett, is a caring and compassionate healer with over twenty years' experience. She has administered thousands of treatments to assist people toward achieving better health.

A preventive care, women's health specialist, and integrative medicine practitioner, Dr. Danett sees patients by appointment in her Bedford Stuyvesant, Brooklyn office and offers video consultations to patients across the United States and all over the world.

She is the author of Yoni Box, a health-savvy blog that serves to break the taboos related to women's reproductive health and provide nature-based perspectives and solutions, and the soon to be released book, A Taste of Our Own Medicine: 3 Vital Keys to Ending Postnatal Depletion, Nurturing Mothers and Improving Our Communities.

A recent pre-book launch event attendee was so taken aback when she learned about postnatal depletion: "This Conversation is soooo needed! THANK YOU Danett Bean."
